Dr. Herbert Jehle
Professor of Physics
George Washington University
Washington 6, D. C.

Dear Dr. Jehle:

Mr. Dulles referred your letter to me and I would like to express our appreciation for your thoughtfulness in writing.

Your summary of Dr. Bethe's recent remarks on the test ban issue is quite interesting and helpful. Dr. Bethe has made a substantial contribution in the negotiations toward a test ban treaty both by his presence in Geneva at scientific meetings and by his continued interest in the problems associated with test ban controls. I am sure that you will agree the problems involved in negotiating such a treaty are challenging and that the final outcome of these discussions will be due in no small part to the efforts of men of Dr. Bethe's caliber.

Thank you again.

Sincerely,
